ABSTARCT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A non-conventional electrical circuit breaker with multiple cut-off threshold points, governed by built-in feed-back sensing circuits, which manipulates the tripping threshold values by sensing different requirements of maximum draw of current depending on the required circuit conditions and states of the application.